

Julio Carrancho

Angry for millennia and no peaceful solution

Other books by the author:

Recovering Reason
Free of Fundamentalism
Fighting Religious Fear
The Unstable Gods
The Unstable Worshipers
Islam From Outside
Discrediting Our Father
Discrediting Jehovah
Discrediting The Miracle of Jesus
While a Religious Man
In The Beguiling Beginning
Tweeting Religion in Flight
Around Religious Forums
Deus de Emergências (Portuguese)
Pai Nosso Que estás Nos Céus (Portuguese)
Enterrando Cinzas (Portuguese)

An Angry God

Julio Carrancho

2011

ISBN 978-0-620-51557-3

(South Africa – September 19, 2011)

All rights reserved to the author –
reproduction of this work prohibited

Email address – jlefthanded@telkomsa.net

-- Bible references mainly from the King James Version --
-- Written in South African English --

*

Christians believe [their] God is angry - one very annoyed for many thousands of years, planning a terribly wrathful finale in this cursed planet to again recover his humour.

*

Matthew 10:34 "I come not to bring peace but a sword."

Why represent spirituality with language that infers violence, injustice, cruelty, the horrors of social conflict and war, since God is supposed to be at peace with himself?

Table of Contents

|                                |     |
|--------------------------------|-----|
| Preface ----                   | 6   |
| Earthquakes ----               | 8   |
| Two questions ----             | 12  |
| Ah, the evil question! ----    | 16  |
| JUMP! ----                     | 26  |
| Forgive them ----              | 42  |
| Things ----                    | 62  |
| Wine ----                      | 68  |
| Give alms ----                 | 77  |
| You son of the Devil! ----     | 95  |
| God's silence ----             | 113 |
| Follow me ----                 | 131 |
| Repentance and Confession ---- | 144 |
| Paul and Slavery ----          | 157 |
| Servants of men ----           | 164 |
| What is Blasphemy? ----        | 176 |
| The love of God ----           | 190 |
| Not peace but a sword ----     | 200 |
| My opinion ----                | 217 |
| Epilogue ----                  | 224 |

Preface

Why is the Bible god perpetually angry?

Why does the church advertise this indisposed deity?

The attentive student will soon discover that the Bible pages announce and project the presence of a strange deity afflicted with an everlasting angry mood, ready to descend to levels of abrasive and impulsive ferocity to destroy anything in its path.

Yahweh, the god of Abraham that some unidentifiable Moses invented, was going to be a fierce deity, emotionally disturbed with a nasty and violent temperament, easily moved to commit the most heinous acts against the humans who never did him any wrong, but from whom he wanted all worship.

Why such a god? Why not a better one?

Why would a man arrive in my street to tell me he found this god I have now to accept?

Isn't religion the imposition of a god some man says he found and now insists other humans must acknowledge, or suffer eternal severance?

Why can we not find the true God – if it exists – without the superstitious help of any other human being?

---

What sort of god is that, which follows the indirect approach: suddenly appeared to an anonymous individual with a coded message he must go out broadcast with threats and curses – "The Lord told me to tell you!"?

The Lord told you to tell me?!

Oh! Why would that Lord not tell me directly?

A man is entitled to develop his knowledge of computers and other sciences, but when it comes to religions invented millennia back in time he is to allow apostles, prophets and christs to block and barricade his brain.

I am going to propose that the god we get church bells advertising in our streets is only another anthropomorphic idol, a counterfeit product some entrepreneurial religious merchants sell for a price to award them a disguised sponging lifestyle.

Earthquakes

Earthquakes, where thousands of innocent people die and much destruction occurs are said, by the religious folk, to be an act of God's anger, or punishment, or disagreement for the way we acknowledge his moral code we're supposed to respect and live by.

But is that true?

"Thou shalt not kill" was never respected by Jehovah, Moses, Israel, or the Church. Moses' idol was going to be a liar from the beginning, the Father of lies.

Earthquakes are – in religious terms – God destroying our houses that we built with great sacrifice for whatever reason he thinks he has, and we the suffering and innocent humans having to erect them again.

In other words, God comes along, has a quick look at our immoral behaviour in this immoral world he built a long time ago, and for his own pleasure, destroys our homes and houses in anger, wrath and revenge to then see us in our tears and pain gathering the broken blocks to start putting them together again. What else can we do, when attacked by such a sadistic deity? The ground trembles, we curse God and die, Job's wife told him (Job 2:9). Jerusalem shook strongly and three crosses stood up undisturbed, God's ploy to confuse us (Matthew 27:51).

---

That God of the Christians, the Muslims, the Jews and other religious conglomerates is to be the biggest failure and loser that ever lived in the Cosmos, for he could not fix the universe when the problem was small. Please, consider and ponder this in your heart. For far too long the organised church has deceived the innocent spectator.

God arrives to satisfy and uphold the vanity of what he thinks is his godly and holy character, and proceeds to destroy the dwellings of millions of innocent people, with children, babies, old folk and domestic animals inside protesting that we are evil and owe him some moral acknowledgement.

He forgot that we are born innocent, knowing nothing of tomorrow's day.

He needed to be seen by a team of psychiatrists, millennia ago, but now is too late, too late.

He's got the power to destroy our houses, knowing that we have no recourse other than to assemble them again. Nice God. No wonder some of us wish God's house in heaven would also be destroyed by a galactic cataclysm, or that he would be imprisoned in some inescapable Black Hole somewhere behind the Cosmos.

Christians and other fanatics who blame the human race for all the immorality on this small planet should learn an important spiritual lesson: God is to be Light where there is no Darkness (1 John 1:5). That is to say that if there is Darkness in this world then it is not our fault: the source is not the ephemeral human.

"And I will make new heavens and a new Earth", for the first heavens had to be destroyed for all the Darkness and injustice therein. Why on Earth would God have to make new heavens, for heaven's sake?!

Simple: Divine injustice could no longer be tolerated in heaven. A higher Source of Pure Light had to take action to remove Yahweh, Allah or any other intolerant, unjust, strident, volatile and untamed God from Heaven, the haven and shelter of peace, lenience, concord, goodwill and sharing.

Yes, it is true: we are, somehow, the innocent victims of some sort of a cosmic disarray and disarrangement that we cannot fix.

The God of the church, popes and other similar emotionally conscripting interests is guilty, for accusing us when we are indeed blameless.

We are born innocent in an immoral world that the God of Christians could have fixed when the first bolt loosened, but he wasn't competent enough even for that tiny job. But then, an incompetent God does not exist, does it... the Church worships a manmade idol, anthropomorphic; and it's idolatry.

Later, when that God of the church and the popes [who live an hypocritical, lazy and useless life, at the expense of superstition and fanaticism] matured in malignancy, he found it funny to send earthquakes to destroy our houses, for the macabre pleasure to see us dead, injured, crying, and suffering for decades while we rebuild them, for we have no other recourse.

For the moment, there is no justice in the Cosmos, but we, the human race together in the Lightful realm,

Gracias por visitar este Libro Electrónico

Puedes leer la versión completa de este libro electrónico en diferentes formatos:

- HTML(Gratis / Disponible a todos los usuarios)
- PDF / TXT(Disponible a miembros V.I.P. Los miembros con una membresía básica pueden acceder hasta 5 libros electrónicos en formato PDF/TXT durante el mes.)
- Epub y Mobipocket (Exclusivos para miembros V.I.P.)

Para descargar este libro completo, tan solo seleccione el formato deseado, abajo:

